

URVI MAJUMDAR

Urvi Majumdar is a comedian, writer, actor and producer. She has performed to sold-out crowds at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival and others including Melbourne Writers and Fringe festivals.

One of the first recipients of the 2019 Stand Up! grants awarded by Melbourne International Comedy Festival in conjunction with Premier Daniel Andrews, Urvi has since secured herself as one of the most exciting up and coming voices in Australian comedy.

So far in 2022, Urvi has enjoyed a sold out MICF season of her first solo show Urvi Went to an All Girls' School. You can see Urvi in 2 seasons of Channel 9's comedy series Metrosexual, look out for her in the upcoming season of ABC's critically acclaimed Fisk and hear her often in guest spots on Triple R Radio.

Urvi has written for Channel Ten's The Project and ABC's The Weekly and is a Senior Producer for Footscray Community Arts where she programs Creative Workshops, the Footscray Laughs series and their new schools program.
